Leader in CAD/CAM integrate solutions, dedicated to the apparel, textile and leather industry, Pad System is present on all five continents through its international distribution network. Today, PAD is active in more than 50 countries and available in 15 languages.

From virtual design to integrated solutions, PAD system and its partners provide service, support, and appropriate training to thousands of satisfied customers worldwide, from freelancers to large scale owners.

PAD system's mission is to produce high-tech CAD/Cam solutions that are simple, efficient and flexible for companies and individuals related to the clothing, textile, and leather industries.

Modular Computer System Limited has been the top distributor for PAD System since 1992. It has made PAD System one of the well known CAD products among other major rivals such as Gerber and Lectra in the Greater China market. Modular Computer System limited has over 20 years of software development as well as distribution and servicing experience.

In March 2007, the owner of Modular Computer System Limited acquired the complete rights of PAD System software, including its intellectual property, technical information, trade mark, website, domain name etc. from its mother company, LaSalle College Group from Montreal. The name of the software "PAD System" will be maintained the same and LCG will remain associated with the new owner of "PAD System" and maintain responsibility for the sales & service of PAD products in all territories outside Asia.

LaSalle College Group will become a distributor for PAD System products outside of Asia from April 2007.

LaSalle College Group is a privately owned holding company with an extensive network of international subsidiaries in the following fields: technical, professional and University education, corporate training, software development, consulting services, human resource development and real estate.

LaSalle College Group originated from LaSalle College, a Montréal based educational institution established in 1959.

The acquisition and the maintenance of strong association with the original founder company and developer of PAD System will set a new era for stronger, more stable and offer greater international reach than ever before. Partners and customers of PAD System will continue to benefit from the industry focus, product development investment, professional services and support capability and commitment on making your business even more successful in future to come.

The new owner and the seller will continue to work hand-in-hand to make PAD products much stronger and will carry all the efforts to maintain the PAD products' edge in the apparel and other markets. Both parties feel that the faster development will bring new features to the products in the very near future for the benefits of customers.
